

Suzanne L'Heureux

The Child Care Center at NH Community Technical College Berlin, NH

“ Sue’s qualities as a caregiver are countless. She joined this profession as a young mother in 1990, shortly after enrolling her son in a preschool class and volunteering to help out. It was soon evident that Sue had special qualities that would make her an excellent teacher. ”

“ Sue has been the most flexible, dependable, caring and nurturing teacher that has passed through our doors. ”

“ She has limitless energy, a tremendous work ethic, and a strength of mind and body that confounds us all, especially knowing that Sue overcame tremendous odds, returning to work with young children following a life-threatening illness and demanding physical therapy. ”

“ I have seen Sue connect with and form special relationships with children who need a little something extra. ”

“ She is often seen helping children to make forts, pirate ships, crowns, packing for a make-believe trip around the world, or into space, acting out the story of the 3 Little Pigs (Sue as the wolf, of course), or sitting at tables working on puzzles, or reading and writing. The list is endless! ”

“ I will never forget the day Sue invited the children to learn about the properties of masking tape. She was found lying on the floor with pieces of tape all over her, including her glasses! ”